

I believe that violence on television can have an impact on children. I do not believe that this should lead to further censorship of what is broadcast. I believe that the FCC should enact programs to teach parent how to monitor their childrens viewing choices, as well as how to make better viewing choices for their families. Education should be held above legislation.